SPARSH

A place to learn. A pathway to thrive.

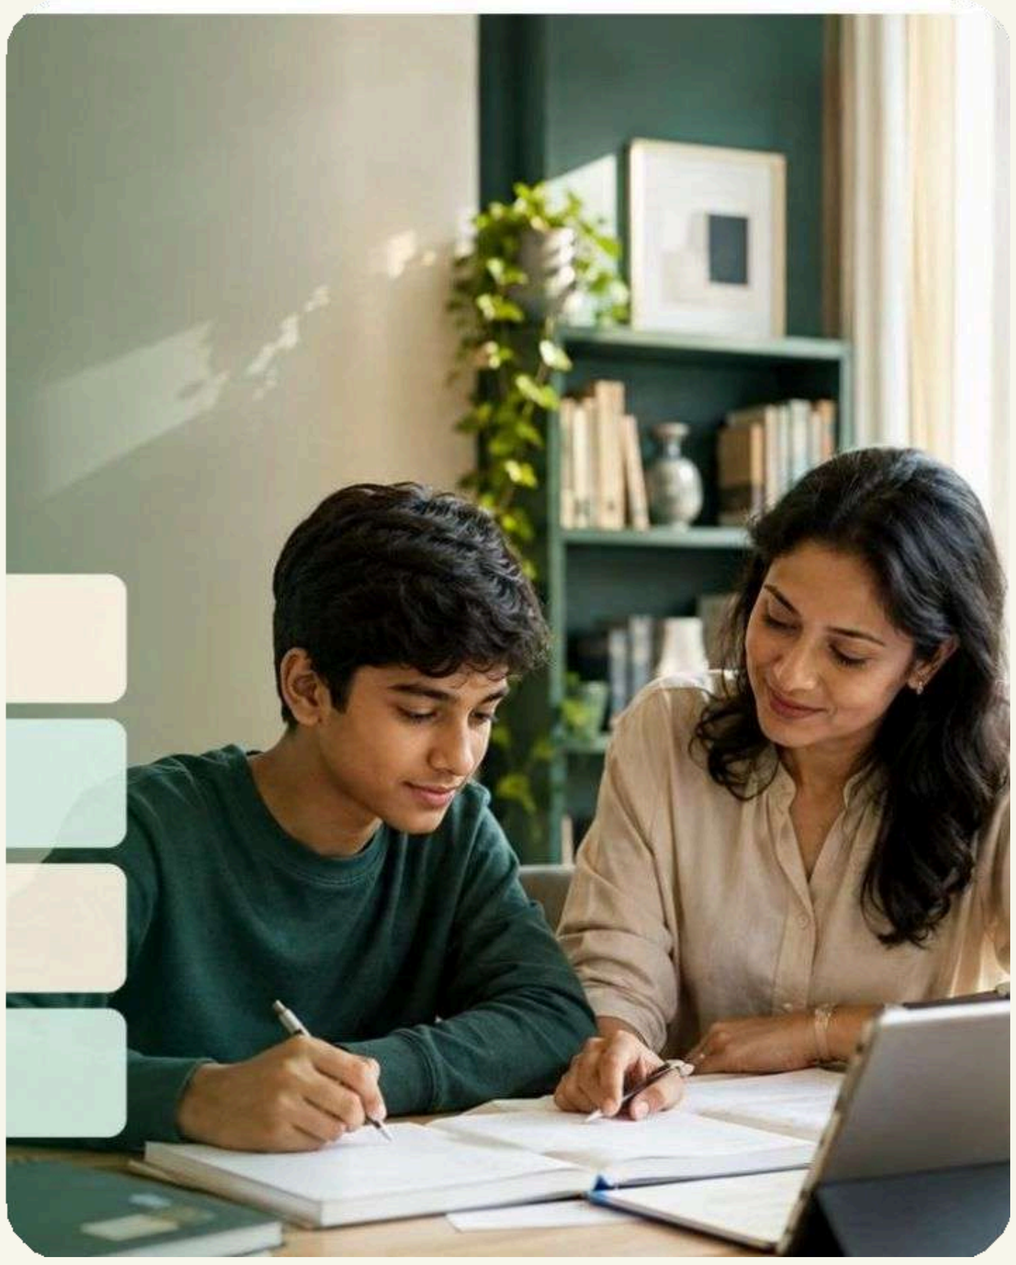

Inclusive education, therapies and life skills, connected around your child.

A GUIDE FOR PARENTS

WELCOME

Every support under one roof

SPARSH connects learning, therapies, life skills and family guidance through one coordinated plan for your child, at school and beyond the school day.

Start with the child

Understand
We listen to your priorities and build a picture of strengths, needs and interests.

Plan
Together we set practical learning, communication and independence goals.

Review
We track progress and adjust support as your child grows.

One connected team helps your child practise new skills across the classroom, therapy sessions, home and real life.

LEARNING | THERAPIES | LIFE SKILLS | FAMILY

LEARNING

School-Integrated Inclusion Programme

Special educators and therapists coordinate with teachers and families so support becomes part of everyday school life.

Individual learning plans

A baseline review informs goals, teaching approaches and regular progress conversations.

Classroom and shadow support

Targeted help with participation, routines, communication and access to lessons, where appropriate.

Special education and remedials

Focused instruction in literacy, numeracy, concepts, study habits and subject gaps.

NIOS and exam guidance

Help with pathway decisions, enrolment, curriculum and eligible accommodations, subject to board rules.

THERAPEUTIC CARE

The right support, working together

Interventions connect with learning goals so skills practised in sessions can be carried into daily life.

Speech and communication

Language, speech, social communication and alternative ways to express needs.

Occupational therapy

Movement, fine motor skills, sensory needs and everyday participation.

Behavioural and emotional Support

Positive strategies, self-regulation and psychological or family guidance as needed.

Parent and teacher partnership

Shared goals, practical suggestions and review meetings to support consistency.

Therapeutic interventions are recommended on the basis of the child’s assessment and family priorities.

BEYOND THE BELL

After-school and weekend pathways

Flexible sessions give children time to practise, explore interests and strengthen skills outside regular lessons.

AFTER SCHOOL

Therapies and remedials

Individual or small-group support in communication, movement, academics and developmental goals.

WEEKENDS

Enrichment and play

Cognitive games, art, sports, communication activities and opportunities to practise social skills.

An example of a connected week

At school: classroom support and individual learning goals After school: a focused remedial or therapy session

Weekend: a project, movement activity or small-group enrichment

GROWING INDEPENDENCE

SPARSH INCLUSIVE EDUCATION

DIFFERENT ABILITIES. INFINITE POSSIBILITIES.

Vocational learning for real life

Our strengths-led pathway helps older learners discover interests, practise useful tasks and prepare for greater independence.

Explore interests

Cooking, gardening, crafts, art, sorting and simple digital activities introduce practical choices.

Build daily independence

Practise self-care, money awareness, communication, travel routines and making choices.

Practise work habits

Follow steps, finish tasks, use tools safely, manage time and work with others.

Plan the next step

Supported exposure and family reviews help identify suitable training or future pathways.

Also part of the journey: adaptive sports and endurance activities to build coordination, confidence and teamwork.

Activities are age-appropriate and matched to each learner’s strengths, support needs and available setting.
